CALL FOR MANUSCRIPTS

The Journal of Developmental and Remedial Education seeks manuscripts which focus on the practice, theory, research, and news of interest to the postsecondary developmental and remedial education community. The Journal's content emphasizes basic skills education.

Readers of the Journal have particular interest in the following topics:

Computers in developmental education
Reasoning and critical thinking skills
Motivation strategies and techniques
Learning styles
Retention programs
Reading
The teaching/learning process
Tutoring
Learning disabilities
Program evaluation

Manuscripts on these topics should include the practical application of theory and research, describe procedures clearly, give helpful examples as appropriate, and describe outcomes of techniques and projects.

For Authors' Guidelines which describe the Journal's review process and presentation requirements, write to:
